

March 2013

Consumers and The Economic Outlook - UK

It is now more than five years since Northern Rock collapsed. Since then, the UK economy has experienced one of the steepest recessions on record, and one of the most anaemic recoveries. Consumers' purchasing power has been eroded by inflation, and wages haven't been rising enough to compensate.