

January 2017

Attitudes toward Healthy Eating - Canada

"Canadians actively target healthy eating all or most of the time (76%). Healthy eating behaviours are seen to be a balancing act of both subtractive behaviours (ie cutting out 'bad' food qualities) and supplemental ones, where effort is made to include nutritious foods. Though highly interested in foods with health ...