Black Consumers and Household Cleaning Trends: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“Even before COVID-19 impacted consumers’ lives and elevated the importance of cleanliness, Black consumers showed a tendency to use more household care products. As health concerns continue to drive stepped-up cleaning efforts, brands need to first and foremost communicate efficacy. Secondary attributes (eg green/natural) are less important for critical ...

“Brands that deliver on multicultural young adults’ expectations of offering fun, information and connection with others will deepen their value and purpose in participants’ lives.”

Multicultural Young Adults and Foodservice: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“The COVID-19 pandemic has had an outsized effect on multicultural young adult populations, both economically and from a health standpoint. This has affected how they judge foodservice providers, and to even be in contention for their dollars, the baseline requirements for restaurants are to keep customers safe and provide economic ...

Hispanics and Household Cleaning Trends: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“COVID-19 made cleaning the house a priority, and the majority of Hispanics have increased their cleaning frequency. Because COVID-19 is the key factor driving the shift, Hispanics’ cleaning habits may slow down once the pandemic is under control. Brand messaging related to protection and hygiene are critical now, though as ...

Marketing to Hispanic Moms: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“COVID-19 has disrupted Hispanic moms’ lives, bringing uncertainty for the future. In response, Hispanic moms are taking control of what they can to protect their families. Beyond COVID-19, Hispanic moms have high expectations about their children’s future. They see education as a priority and want to walk side by side ...

Marketing to Black Moms: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“Black moms are aware of the unique parenting challenges they face this year amid COVID-19 and an intensified focus on social justice. However, they want to avoid making their kids fearful of the world, and instead give them confidence to overcome any challenge they face. Their primary focus is their ...

Black Haircare: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“A majority of Black consumers say that their priorities about their appearance have not changed during the pandemic, which gives insight into their regard for personal style. Hair is foundational to Black consumers’ looks, so they will continue to buy haircare products during lean economic times. However, people in a ...

Consumers and the Economic Outlook: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“The unpredictable pace of the spread of COVID-19 is worrying, but consumers have remained optimistic about their finances throughout this pandemic and the subsequent recession. Time will tell how deeply consumer finances will be affected, but right now, consumers are most definitely holding out hope for themselves, while their confidence ...

Black Consumers and Color Cosmetics: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“Makeup is more than just part of a grooming routine for Black women. It is more like a coat of armor that represents who she is to the world, as well a way to secure her own personal sense of self. Social distancing due to COVID-19 has reduced her occasions ...

Hispanics and Color Cosmetics: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“COVID-19 has disrupted Hispanic women’s color cosmetics use, shopping patterns and relationship with makeup. However, while engagement will dip due to changes to lifestyle as a result of the pandemic, Hispanic women are a key segment as they tend to use a wider variety of cosmetics products and wearing makeup ...

Marketing to Hispanic Millennials: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“COVID-19 has been very disruptive to Hispanic Millennials. The fact that the majority of Hispanic households experienced some loss of income likely had an even greater negative effect on Hispanic Millennials’ path toward feeling successful and having the material assets to prove it. Despite the setback, Hispanic Millennials’ future is ...

Marketing to Black Millennials: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“Black Millennials are at a crossroads in their lives – they have made some positive strides in their lives in terms of their educational attainment and have achieved some comforts, while others are still in the process of forging a path to success even though they face systemic roadblocks that ...

Hispanics and Media Consumption: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“Media consumption is one of the top activities Hispanics do in their leisure time. Shelter-at-home and social distancing orders due to COVID-19 have made it an even more integral part of Hispanics’ daily lives. As services aim to promote trial, with hopes of consumers signing up for longer-term paid subscriptions ...

Black Consumers and Media Consumption: Incl Impact of COVID-19 - US

“As the Black population is disproportionately impacted by the coronavirus pandemic, Black consumers turn to culturally relevant, trusted media sources for information as well as those that offer an escape from the chaos.”

Hispanics and Shopping at Mass Merchandisers - US

"Hispanics almost universally shop at mass merchandisers; Walmart and Target are far ahead of the rest. Hispanics associate Walmart with good value and a vast product selection, while a pleasant store environment is more top-of-mind for Target. Mass merchandisers continue to adapt to modern consumers' needs in order to ensure ...

Black Consumers and Shopping at Mass Merchandisers - US

"Some 98% of Black consumers have shopped at a mass merchandiser within the last year, making these stores the primary location where they can fulfill their shopping for multiple personal and household needs at competitive prices.
